

She is an airborne Goddess, representing the energy of the sun that is fire in the air and promotes consciousness.

Who is Queen of Heaven?

She is the Sun Goddess, Sun Queen, the Dakini representing the heavenly, life-promoting energy of the sun. In most cultures the sun is attributed to the masculine principle. In our pantheon where all manifest nature is personified as forms of Shakti (Goddess energy/power), Queen of Heaven embodies this principle, this heavenly body, center of our solar system.

Amongst the deities of Japanese cosmology, Amaterasu is the Goddess of the sun. Her name means 'She who shines in the heavens', or 'Shining heaven'. She is a central figure in the Shintu pantheon. As a sun Goddess she was responsible for illuminating the world and ensuring the fertility of crops. She was a weaver of beautiful silks. After an attack by her jealous brother, she was depressed and grief stricken and retreated to a dark cave in the mountains. The world was cast into darkness until the laughter caused by the dance of Uzume, Goddess of mirth, was able to peak her curiosity, draw her out of the cave and return her to her heavenly abode.

Queen of Heaven takes her title and style from the ancient Chinese cycle of deities which features Queens of the Western and Eastern Heavens. Hsi Wang Mu/Xi Wang Mu is the Queen of the Western Heaven who predates, but is most often associated with Taoism. In her official title of 'Golden Mother of the Shining Lake' she is associated with the metal gold. She represents prosperity, longevity and eternal bliss. She holds the longevity peach. She is seen as the highest Goddess and presides over female transcendents. She takes care of female Taoists.

She is a powerful independent deity representing ultimate Yin and controlling immortality and the afterlife.

Queen of Heaven synergizes the energies of these ancient Goddesses to embody this heavenly body for our world at this time.

From ancient Egypt the spirit of Queen Nefertiti, the wife of Akhanaten, who spearheaded the worship of the sun as central to spiritual life, is also part of this portal.

Location/Sphere of Influence

Everywhere the sun shines. The daytime, daylight hours. Asia.

Nature & Description of Dakini

Queen of Heaven floats aloft in the heavens, beaming with golden light. Her extended arms emanate blessing rays. Her whole being emits radiance and warmth.

She is the Dakini who embodies the energy of the sun, center of our solar system.

She floats in the sky, extending a trail of golden light to the clouds below.

As her vehicle is the air dragon, two subtle dragons support her.

She is lustrous and regal, with an ornate Chinese headdress.

Queen of Heaven exudes gentle grace and quiet power. She embodies the principle that power does not have to be forceful, it can just be.

Power that lies in consistency and benevolence. Power that is like the light of the sun, the life-bestowing, ever-giving, ever-radiant sun.

Above her the face of the Great Goddess of suns beams her light into the manifestation of our particular sun, our Queen of Heaven..

Like the Chinese Queen of the Western Heaven, Hsi Wang Mu, she holds the peach of immortality, expressing that the physical celestial body of the sun ripens the fruits that support life and also promotes immortal consciousness.

Her realm is of the bright sunlit sky and the heavenly realms. Below her lie cloud clad mountain peaks where celestial Asian temples and golden pagodas nestle.

At the foot of the central lightbeam there is a small statue of Amaterasu, indicating our Dakini's lineage.

The moon is shown in the sky to the right, for she is Queen of Heaven's greatest fan.

The central glyph takes the shape of the Egyptian ankh, symbol of eternal life and regeneration.

Divinatory Meaning

A blessing of solar energy from Queen of Heaven.

Realize your own inner power and light.

Things come into focus, become clear.

There are no shadows at mid day.

Shedding light in dark corners.

Time to bring to light anything that has been hiding in the shadows, in your own psyche and/or in those of a person or people you are connected with.

Trust the light of truth.

Positivity and a positive approach in general is indicated.

A sign to move ahead, to activate.

The sun will rise again. If you have been experiencing a time of darkness in your life, know that the light of the sun is here to brighten your path.

A longing to have more sunshine in your life, in terms of happier, warmer experiences and/or outlook .

Could indicate a shift to a warmer climate or spending more time in the sun.

Strengthening of your will, your solar plexus, the energy hub of your subtle body.

This is your seat of personal power. Be powerful with the warmth and life-giving nature of the sun.

Pay attention to your solar plexus, the seat of your inner sun.

Do you sense any blockage there? Sometimes the solar plexus is the place that receives psychic blows. Queen of Heaven offers you a solar shield to protect you from the damage that can result from continued impacts. Visualize her gift as a glowing solar orb located over your navel area, protecting it and charging it with energy and light.

Bathe in her all-bestowing nature.

Cultivate radiance of being.

Understand the power of 'radiance marketing' if there is anything you wish to promote.

The application of this principle is that you project inner radiance which is apparent to all you encounter. People want to know what the secret is of your radiant being.

Do not hide your light under a bushel, it is time to shine.

You can make things happen. Do not doubt the strength of your being. You can achieve whatever you wish if you fully commit to it and focus the power of your will and your intention behind it.

The union of power and grace. You can be powerful and effective, but at the same time gentle and persistent. You can be strong but at the same time you need not be too forceful. The sun achieves its results by its consistency and its unfailing radiant loveliness.

From a distance the sun is warming and life giving. Up close it is fierce and will burn to nothing all that comes that near. Find the position you occupy in relation to great power that is most comfortable and healthy for you, while fully owning your own piece of solar energy within your body that is your solar plexus.

As the planets revolve around the sun, so all your thoughts and actions are governed by your inner sun, your will, your life force, and spin around it.

Be the guiding force of your own destiny, in resonance with heavenly guidance. Your little sun enlightened by the celestial one.

Queen of Heaven offers the peach of immortality and she presides over female immortals. She asks you what have you done in your life that would qualify you for a place amongst the immortals? Perhaps you have a list of accomplishments, perhaps you have none at all. Queen of Heaven says that to empower your immortal being, first you have to believe that you have one and that the deeds you do, the consciousness you hold here, while in a living breathing body, does affect your immortal being, the part of you that never dies.

She says the sun is an eternal, immortal being. Even if our sun were to die, other suns in other universes will still exist. Our sun is part of that cosmic signature that is the undying light, the ever-living presence of energy in the cosmos. The sun is the center of life as we know it. Contact your own eternal ever-living, ever-vibrant inner sun. Let this inner light shine more and more brightly through your whole being, illuminating all it encounters, as you cultivate those aspects of yourself you would like to last forever, those things you would like to see create the illuminated future of a bright new world. This new world may exist as a physical reality, or be the heavenly immortal realms, bathed in the golden light of awareness and liberation.

Indications

Daylight hours are currently the best for achieving your goals.

Schedule important meetings in the day.

When the sun is at its zenith is a special power time for you now, a blessing from Queen of Heaven.

Sunrise is also auspicious. Meditate on things you want to bring into being at sunrise, those you want to dissolve at sunset.

Keep warm.

Practices

1. Make a practice of sitting in the sun for ten minutes every day, or every day when the sun is out.
Close your eyes. Receive the energy of the sunlight into your being to revitalize every cell.
Give thanks to the Queen of Heaven for her gift of light and warmth, her gift of life.
Note whatever visions or ideas may come to you in these times. Do not discontinue the practice until you have received at least one such revelation.
2. There is a yoga sequence entitled 'Salute to the Sun'. Queen of Heaven would like you to perform this in her honor, facing the sun and visualizing her there.
If you are not familiar with this yoga sequence, Queen of Heaven offers a simple practice that can be done anywhere at any time.

Face the sun. Ideally where you can see the sun, but if not, in its direction.

Start with your hands together at your chest in the attitude of prayer. Now slowly raise your joined hands straight up above your head, while breathing in, breathing in the light force/the life force of the sun.

As you breathe out your arms, fully extended, palms out, slowly descend on each side of you, describing the circumference of an orb- the orb of the sun, of your solar being. Your arms come to rest when your hands meet, at your pelvic region.

You cup your palms and inhale as you bring them up to your chest, absorbing the radiant energy.

You can then repeat the cycle up from your chest to your head with your hands together in prayer and salutation, opening again...

Repeat as many times as you like, as you offer yourself to the sun, the Queen of Heaven, and receive her radiant energy.

3. Solar flares are predicted that could effect systems on the planet. Queen of Heaven says if you visualize her and her benevolent energy at these times, it can help amplify those benign frequencies and moderate the more extreme.
4. Queen of Heaven finds herself in a very special galactic alignment on the winter Solstice (December 21st) 2012. It will appear as if our sun is the very center of the Milky Way.

People are in fear about the results of this powerful alignment and the prophesies for 2012. Queen of Heaven asks for your participation, to focus the light of your consciousness with hers to bring about the shift in consciousness, the entry into the new era, the Golden Age, that this event has the potential to usher in. It is not an end but the opportunity for a new beginning.

Meditate with Queen of Heaven, our beloved sun, on this portal for rebirth and regeneration.

Nefertiti (wife of the Egyptian pharaoh Akhanaten who saw the sun as the primary divine energy) offers this for the meditation.

She asks you to visualize a golden ankh with the orb of the sun centered in its loop. Do this meditation as often as possible, while mentally repeating

With this ankh
I seal the pact
Life out of life
Nuclear evolution
Aligning our source of light
With the heart of Universal intention

This is the primary meditation for the shift.

Dakini Transmission

I am radiance
I bring life to everything
Light that you can see
And warmth that you can feel.
I am a cosmic solar signature

Center of systems.
I will never die
So you can always turn to me

Affirmations

I am open
To receive the light
Of consciousness
Directly from the sun
I am full of light
I radiate
